TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I've known Peter Kimeli for over 2 years. While I wish him all the best and fully understand that he is interested in software development. It has been a pleasure having him on my team. He is a professional Arduino, Android and Web Developer of the highest caliber, whose meticulous implementation of projects has earned him rich praise from his seniors. His analytical and programming skills are very strong. He has developed projects for our Startups such as PayBobby, JuakaliSmart and PlusFarm. He has really good knowledge in Arduino Android, Python, Django framework, PHP and Java and was hence appointed Head of Coding. I've received many compliments from customers who really appreciate his professional work. Management and personnel in tech support, engineering, technical training, and other departments have high regards for him.

He is an innovative self-starter, who rarely needs supervision. He is punctual and typically exceeds expectations. He handles pressure well, and will voluntarily work overtime and take work home to meet a deadline.

He will be an invaluable asset to any Organization/Institution. If you'd like to know anything more, please don't hesitate to contact me.

In summary Peter was a gifted worker with strong work ethics and an extremely positive attitude who consistently impressed me with his abilities and character. He has a strong desire to excel, sets high standards for himself and achieves them consistently. I wish him all the best and strongly recommend him to you.

Yours Sincerely,

HEAD OF TRAININGS AND INNOVATIONS
